Bufs To NIT

West Texas State's bid to the National Invitational Basketball Tournament could have a profound effect on the future of basketball in the Texas Panhandle.

"I know it's going to help my recruiting," said Coach Dennis Walling. "It will also help my scheduling."

Dr. James P. Cornette, president of West Texas State, said this could attract the interest for basketball which could eventually lead to the construction of a university gymnasium to seat 10,000 people.

The university president said attendance at future games played at the Civic Center in Amarillo will be a key to the future of such a field house.

The Buffs' bid to the NIT came Monday morning when Athletic Director Frank

Hunger Cited Major Problem

Hunger is the greatest long range problem facing the world, the supervisor of crop variety in several areas of the world told about 150 persons Tuesday night.

Dr. N. W. Kramer of Plainview, who supervises crop variety development in western and southeastern Europe and Latin America, said each day 10,000 persons die from starvation.

Dr. Kramer was speaker at the annual spring lecture regional championship and the right to advance to the state tournament in Austin.

Coach Bob Schneider said signups are being taken for the bus rides.

The Girl Eagles, district champs, will meet Stephenville at 7:30 p.m. in Snyder Coliseum, rather than the high school gym, he said.

Schneider said no tickets are available to the game, that admission will be taken at the door in Snyder.

Stephenville is defending state champion. They stole the regional crown from the Girl Eagles last year in a 43-41 match.

Both Stephenville and Canyon have teams almost identical to the teams which met last year.

Expected to be key players for Canyon Saturday are forwards Pam Richardson, Jan Sternberg, and Susan Swartzell.

Starting forwards for Stephenville will be Debbie Ballow, Barbara Shipp and Nita Stephens.

Guards include Tula Le-wellen, Joan Terry and Sis-sy McMahan.

NAACP Leader Blasts WTSU

BY CARROLL WILSON

The president of the Amarillo chapter of National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) told about 50 students Monday West Texas State University is violating the Civil Rights Law of 1966.

Dr. R. W. Jones, stressing his aim is to "be sure everybody is complying with the guidelines" set up by the act, said "here at WT several fallacies exist" in relation to the open housing law.

Dr. Jones was guest speaker at the WTSU Sociology Club meeting on campus.

He cited one violation as that part of the application for dormitory housing which asks the applicant's race or

Court Is Lenient In Hardship Cases

Randall County commissioners Monday voted to file suit on people with delinquent taxes.

Mrs. Audrey Bruse, tax assessor-collector, told the court that $65,009.57 is owed the county in delinquent personal taxes dating back to 1963.

This figure includes $46,778.01 for last year.

Clarence Beckman made the motion to file the tax suits but stipulated that hardship cases would be excepted. "We don't want to scare some little old widow woman," he explained.

Randall County Criminal District Attorney George Dowlen said his office filed some 25 cases last year and collected about $10,000 in delinquent taxes.

"Is there any reason we can't file on delinquencies again this year?" inquired Judge Carroll Brown of the district attorney.

"I can't think of any," Dowlen replied.

Commissioners agreed to back a Panhandle County Judges and Commissioners Association resolution to promote a sales tax and abolish the ad valorem tax. The resolution branded the ad valorem tax as unfair.

David West, vice president of Canyon First National Bank which is the county depository, told the court that the average balance of the county during January was $949,000 and said $727,000 in securities is being pledged to secure it. West explained that the securities includes $15,000 in FDIC insurance.

The law requires pledged securities amounting to at least 75 percent of the county's deposits.

Dick Ratjen appeared before the court to request that a county road in the vicinity of his place in the southeast part of the county be paved. The road serves the Ratjen rodeo ranch and the R. B. Elliot Feedlot.

Ratjen requested two miles of pavement from the paved Wayside road to the Elliot Feedlot. Commissioner Glenn Dowlen in whose precinct the road lies said he plans to pave one mile and possibly two this year.

Members of the Randall County tax study committee will be presented plaques at a regular meeting of the court next Monday in appreciation for their services.

Action on the committee's recommendations is expected before 1969 county tax assessments in May.

Moisture is expected to be very beneficial to agriculture, especially to wheat.

FROM THE CANYON RIM

Dr. Richard Jones spoke Monday at a meeting of the West Texas State University Sociology Club on the university campus.

Dr. Jones, head of the Amarillo Chapter of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, complained that there is a lack of Negro employees on the West Texas State campus. He even went so far as to threaten action to have $3 million in federal funds for dormitory construction at WTSU cancelled.

Dr. Jones certainly must not have thought this one through. If such funds are curtailed, WTSU officials say, it may become necessary to cut or stop enrollment of out of state students.

A good percentage of Negro students on the WTSU campus are out of state residents.

Dr. Jones has four attributes which make it almost impossible to discuss anything with him in front of a crowd.

He is frail of stature, elderly, blind and a Negro. Anyone taking the gloves off with him in a public verbal donnybrook would be a villain from the start.

The NAACP head also is possessed of a biting sarcasm which he used unrelentingly at the Monday meeting.

Dr. Hubert Oppé tried to explain to the group some of the reasons that there are no black professors on the WTSU faculty. He said efforts had been made to find one for the Sociology Department but that these efforts were fruitless.

Dr. Jones cut him down with a tongue lash which must have stung like the storied whip of Simon Legree.

The Panhandle in general and Canyon in particular was pilloried at the Monday meeting.

One student who described himself as a "furriner" --- I believe he said he is from Mexico or Cuba or both --- said no effort should be made to cut off funds from WTSU.

because the institution and community will "never get any culture" if this is done.

He made the statement that Canyon west of 23rd Street is run by John Birchers and is almost totally lacking in culture.

This young man, admittedly here on the bounty of Texas tax payers who foot the bill for the university, apparently didn't make a very close study of the community before slandering it.

I don't see how he could make such a statement if he had known that on a percentage basis Canyon adults have more formal education than those of any other city in America. A Canyon man is head of the largest department of paleontology in the world (Don Savage), one of the top young psychiatrists in America (Dr. Mitchell Jones) is a Canyon product, the superintendent of Austin Public Schools (Irby Caruth) is from Canyon, and that Canyon produced the nation's top high school scholar (Alan Demus) two years ago.

We could go on and on. A Canyon man helped design the first telestar, the satellite which brings television reception from all over the world. The umbilical cord which permits astronauts to walk in space was partly the work of a Canyon man.

The young man is actually to be pitied for his unseemly outburst. I am led to believe that maybe he has never been west of 23rd Street.

Dr. N. W. Kramer, an expert on food production, told a group on the university campus this week that 10,000 persons die each day from starvation.

He said food production will become critical even in this land of abundance in a few years.

This behooves us all to work for some means of water importation into the Panhandle because without it this area, the most productive in the US, will become a desert. If you haven't already joined Randall County Water Association, do it right away. It is vital. Dues are $10 a year and may be mailed to the water association in care of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce.

It should read:

News Brief

Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Pitt took their daughter-in-law, Marilyn Pitt, and grandson, Warren, to Fort Bliss recently for a visit with Larry Pitt who is stationed there with the United States Army.

Our World

MAN'S SEARCH FOR MEANING has added a valuable new dimension to the field of psychology.

Dr. Frankl, a Jewish psychiatrist incarcerated in a German extermination camp during World War II, discovered an eternal truth: "He who has a WHY to live for can bear with almost any HOW."

Dr. Frankl, the father of logotherapy, compares it to psychoanalysis thusly: "During psychoanalysis the patient must lie down on a couch and tell things that sometimes are very disagreeable to tell. Now, in logotherapy the patient may remain sitting erect, but he must bear things that sometimes are very disagreeable to bear."

To be mentally healthy--and one is not likely to be happy if he is not healthy--one must face up to reality, however unpleasant that reality may be. The fallacy that is currently causing turmoil in all parts of the world is the concept that man is entitled to all the benefits of labor, law, and justice, without doing any labor, abiding by any law, or dispensing any justice.

The inexorable law of Nature that "Whatsoever a man sows, that shall he also reap," cannot be repealed--even by blindly indulgent Uncle Sam. The more unearned money or goods lavished upon the poor--whether they be individuals or nations--the more dependent and hostile the recipients become. Anyone who is deprived of the necessity of earning his own livelihood, is deprived indeed.

The smut peddlers would have man believe all he needs to give meaning to life is an endless variety of sex. This fallacy degrades man even lower than the lowest level of animal life. When life is reduced to feeding, fighting, and fornicating, it rapidly becomes unendurable.

Without a reason for living, man's life is likely to be short and miserable. People who eat, drink, smoke, dope, work, or drive themselves into early graves usually do so because they have found nothing better to do.

The philosopher who said he sought in vain for God, and for himself, and finally in seeking his brother found all three, also discovered an eternal truth: Man can find

God only through his brother, and can find himself only through God.

Of all the good books that have been written on man's search for meaning in life, none has really improved on one written nearly a thousand years B. C. by King Solomon. The wise old King who had tried every thing he could think of in his search for happiness came to one conclusion: "Fear God, and keep His commandments, for this is the whole duty of man." (Ecc. 12:13).

Man was given a brief span on this earth to subdue it, and to make preparation for eternity. The earlier a person learns this fact, the happier and more productive his life is likely to be. The man who never learns this eternal truth, or refuses to accept it, will probably search in vain for meaning and purpose whatever his situation in life may be.

Every man is unique, and was created for a purpose. When a man finds--and accepts--the purpose for his life, he can climb to sublime heights; or he can endure almost any situation that cannot be changed, and be happy in the process.

Students will have a holiday while teachers attend the convention which is based on the theme "All Eyes Are On Education". Dr. W. M. (Fred) Stoker of West Texas State University, district president, will preside at the general session in the new Civic Center Coliseum in Amarillo beginning at 10 a.m.

The House of Delegates will conduct formal business of the convention tonight, Thursday, at 6:30 p.m. at Caprock High School.

About 30 fifth and sixth grade students from Rex Reeves Elementary School will be used in a demonstration for an afternoon chorus workshop for music teachers, according to Donna Wilson, music instructor at Rex Reeves. Henson said the loan would be repaid through receipts from student meal tickets.

The addition would be constructed on the north side of the present hall. The hall's kitchen, he said, would not be expanded.

Officials at WTSU recently closed the West Dining Hall on the campus due to a drop in student meal ticket purchases.

Henson said also that mandatory meal tickets of some sort would probably be initiated in the next fall semester.

He said plans have not been formalized for the type meal ticket to be issued.

The tickets will be compulsory only for residence hall occupants. Meal tickets are now optional.

Meal tickets will also increase in cost next fall by about 4 per cent, he said. They will go up $1.95 per pay period or $7 per semester.

The bill was introduced by Rep. Temple Dickson of Sweetwater and Rep. Bill Finck of San Antonio. It would make it illegal to discriminate on the basis of race, creed or national origin.

News sources quoted Mrs. Parker as saying "We already have too many regulations applying to the individual businesses. A housekeeper or cook chooses whom she will serve. The individual business should have the same right."

Mrs. Parker described herself as "an independent business operator--the peon of today."

The bill was referred to subcommittee.

Plan Europe Student Tour

Two Amarillo teachers who were reared in Canyon are organizing a 22-day tour of Europe for high school students.

The tour will take place this summer.

The two teachers are Patricia Salmon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Salmon, and Nancy Cleavinger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Cleavinger. Both teach at Caprock High School.

The trip will cost each student $745, plus expenses to the point of departure at New York City. Students will need some extra money for souvenirs and incidentals. Food, lodging and transportation is included in the tour fee.

Miss Salmon said guides and interpreters will be furnished. The local students who go on the tour will be included in a group of 40.

"We will not only have an opportunity to learn about other peoples on the trip but we will learn about others in our own country as well," said Miss Salmon.

In Europe the group will visit 12 cities in England, Holland, Switzerland, France, Italy and Germany.

Hunger ...

causes of hunger--population increasing faster than food production, and rising per capita income in parts of the world which puts a strain on the food supply.

"Increased income generates the demand for more and higher quality food," he said, "and this puts a strain on the supply."

Illustrating the effect of the growth of population on the food supply, Dr. Kramer referred to Pakistan, which had an increase in food production of 20 per cent. In the same period, the population rose 30 per cent, so, in effect, food production was down 10 per cent.

The population of the world, Dr. Kramer said, is projected to double in numbers by the year 2,000.

He also said halting population growth would not decrease or stabilize the need for food. Food needs would increase.

Dr. Kramer said much of the world's population is under the age of 15, and as it grows, will need more food.

The agronomist predicted that for any solution to be effected to the food problem, every country of the world must work together. The richer countries, he said, must work together to aid the poorer countries.

Dr. Kramer said countries must make a full commitment to providing an adequate supply of food to each individual.

He also listed immediate steps which must be taken to alleviate present problems:

1. Stop wasting the food and resources we now have.
2. Supplement present foods with materials which would enrich the quality of the foods.
3. Improve the quality and utility of the food materials already in production.
4. Increase the cultivated land area.
5. Produce more on the land already in use for growing.
6. Continue research, development and education to provide methods for increasing productivity.

Temporary Secretary Ronald Black reported that 53 persons have joined the association and 27 have paid dues. Minimum membership dues is $10 a year.

The group discussed legislation being introduced in the state legislature which would allow water organizations to establish political sub-divisions with limited taxing power.

Several methods of educating the public on water needs, especially the need for importing vast quantities of water to this area were discussed.

Purpose of the organization is to assist in securing importation of surplus Mississippi River water to the Plains area. Proponents of the plan say it will cost as much as $11 billion and hope to see water arrive here by 1985.

Fletcher warned that the project may take 30 years.

Members of the board include Paul Lindsey, Dean House, Bill Adams, Dr. Frank Daugherty, Roscoe Richardson, Bob Lindsey, JoZach Byrd, Charles Gerald, Louis Henders, Alvin Kuhlman, Walter Graham and R. B. Gist, Jr., all of Canyon; Ed Wieck, Umbarger; O. H. Rahlfs and Jack Frost, both of Happy; Jim Fletcher and Dan Boston, Lake Tanglewood; and F. G. Collard, Harold Erwin, John Stevens, Jack Gwyn, Pat Malone, Steve Taylor, John Plank, Art Wickham, Jim Heitz and Joe Gulde, all of Amarillo.

Featured speakers last Friday night for the organizational meeting were Jim Valliant of the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway and Dr. Frank Daugherty, professor of Geology at West Texas State University and coordinator of earth science research at the Killgore Research Center.

Dr. Daugherty stressed that water is the most valuable physical asset on the High Plains today but that water resources are rapidly being depleted.

He pointed out that the underground water table is falling at a frightening rate. He destroyed the conception that the water-bearing Ogallala formation is being recharged by run-off water from the Rocky Mountains declaring that the formation is isolated.

He said only rainfall currently is recharging the formation at a mere fraction of an inch a year.

"By 1962 Randall County had used 20 percent of the water stored in the Ogallala, Deaf Smith County had used 37 percent of its water, Armstrong, 23 percent, and Lubbock County, 44 percent."

He urged his listeners to do all in their power to extend the life of High Plains underground water.

Valliant expanded on Dr. Daugherty's statements. He said that in Hale County in 1943 the depth to water was just 53 feet but was 117 feet by 1962.

He urged better methods of conservation declaring that unless farmers conserve the water they already have and use it to maximum benefit they may have difficulty convincing the remainder of the country that the High Plains needs more water.

Valliant was accompanied to Canyon by Dr. T. C. Longnecker, head of the research station.

Dick Godwin, president of the Deaf Smith County Water Association, spoke of the proposed water importation plan.

"We need to show we are taking care of our water if we are to prove the project is feasible," he said.

The people of the entire country must be educated to the fact that West Texas economy is necessary to them and that we must have water to maintain that economy, he declared.

He stressed the urgency of starting action on water importation at once.

He advocated a political sub-division with limited taxing powers to provide money to pursue the project.

Patricia Salmon, left, and Nancy Cleavinger display an Air France poster in anticipation of their student tour to Europe this summer. They will chaperon a group of 40 high school youngsters on the tour which is sponsored through Unitorus, Inc., of Dallas. agency," he said. "I don't know of any regulation but I'm sure if there were such I would have been told about it."

Henson said if the number of black instructors and black secretaries employed by WTSU were of interest to the federal agency in regard to the loan, the agency would have asked the number on the loan application.

Henson said if the $3 million loan, which is to be used for dormitories, is not approved, the administration will probably have to limit enrollment, particularly to Texas residents only.

In his speech, Dr. Jones said WTSU had no excuse for not having black instructors. He indicated that black instructors should be sought for WTSU even if qualification standards must be lowered.

The doctor continued his speech, outlining the various events in the history of Negro rebellion in the United States, from the first "exploited musicians" of the 1920s to the latest black uprisings on college campuses.

He described the Negro as very lonely, defining "lonely" as "a person who has convictions but who is afraid to express them because of fear of reprisal or loss of prestige."

Dr. Jones said blacks began to get tired of being lonely several years ago, and after the burning of Watts in California, dropped the language of nonviolence and started another language--"the language of the flame."

Dr. Jones said the male black should cast off his loneliness and start demanding what is rightfully his "and ours."

"We have lost some of our loneliness," he said. "We need to get some bread in our pockets so we can do something, so we can compete--not separately--the only way is together."

Following the speech, Dr. Hubert Oppe, associate professor of sociology at WTSU, asked Dr. Jones "What if we had 90 per cent Negroes and 10 per cent whites in this country--would we have prejudice then?"

Dr. Jones said he "couldn't say."

Edgar Sneed, assistant professor of history, asked Dr. Jones if the Amarillo NAACP is going to help local Negroes with the scheduled Afro-American weekend at WTSU.

"The NAACP will help the Afro-American parade if it is not practicing separation," he said. "If it's eliminating white students--no."

told newsmen Monday. "But he's done a lot better than we thought he would in this length of time."

Dr. Cornette said permission to accept the NIT invitation was cleared with the board of regents within an hour.

Under Wallings' tutelage the Bufs have come from a 1-18 debacle in 1966-67 to a 10-11 last year and then an 18-7 for the season just ended.

Wallings is assisted by Les Pollock.

The Buff team is paced by scoring aces Simmie Hill and Mike Mitchell.

Mitchell is second high career scorer for the Buffaloes with 1,174 points in three years of playing. Price Brookfield who played in 100 games still holds the record with 1,406 points.

Mitchell gave his mentor credit for the good showing of the team.

"The day the team started coming back was the day the school signed Coach Walling," the Buff sharpshooter declared.

As of Tuesday 11 positions still were open in the NIT.

WTSU is credited with having received a bid mainly for having beaten 12th ranked New Mexico State, Big Sky Champion Weber State and Colorado State, all of whom will play in the NCAA tournament.

Five teams had been chosen through Tuesday. These included the Buffaloes, Southern Illinois, Temple, Boston College and Rutgers. Final selections are not expected until the end of the week.

Coach Walling began working his charges out Wednesday in preparation for the tournament. He said his team probably will leave for New York City March 12.

West Texas State has appeared in 16 post-season tournaments and played 28 post-season games. They have won 13 and lost 15 of these outings.

The last appearance was in the NCAA playoffs in 1955. The Buffs lost to mighty San Francisco, a team which still holds the NCAA consecutive win record with 60 straight victories.

Proper Channels Urged For Change

A professor of Christian ethics at a Baptist seminary told about 50 students at West Texas State University Monday night to work for change through the established channels.

Dr. Bill Pinson, professor at Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, said "there are plenty of things that can be done here, but go through the channels--this is where I differ with the New Left."

Dr. Pinson was guest on campus three days this week for the annual Willson Lecture Series.

He participated Monday night in a panel discussion with several students.

Dr. Pinson warned the students about "all sorts of lies."

"Get informed," he said, "and don't let anybody get away with anything. It's our only hope to survival in a democracy."

In responding to a question from Tom Cooper, panel member, concerning a recent article in the Amarillo newspaper which purported that communists are behind asked if Puckrein was selected to the committee by the Students for A Democratic Society.

Long made several other direct statements concerning Puckrein, then stormed from the room, with Puckrein shouting "I'm going to sue you for libel" as he left.

The committee took a five-minute break following the outburst.

Before Long's statement, he had told the committee the KA order will not fly their Confederate flag at public functions but will restrict its use to fraternity activities.

Long appeared before the committee last week concerning alleged dislike by Negroes on campus of the order's flag.

KA President Hal Blair later told the committee the order stands on its statement concerning the flag, and he apologized for actions which he termed "said in anger or excitement," in reference to Long's outburst.

Council Race Includes 4

Four Canyon residents have filed for the City Commission race April 1.

Francis Shell, local pharmacist, will meet incumbent Kenneth Olsen, faculty member at West Texas State University, on the ballot for place 5.

Walter Shelly, also a faculty member at WTSU, seeks place 4, as does incumbent Felix Pierce, who is in the fuel business.

Filing deadline for the race was Friday.

Rabies Case At Umbarger

A case of rabies was reported at Umbarger late last week.

Dr. Joe Markham, Canyon veterinarian, said a rabid skunk was killed about midweek in the yard of the Willie Wick home, about 3 miles north of Umbarger.

The skunk had bitten a dog.

The skunk's head was sent to Austin and a return of rabies positive was received by Dr. Markham Friday. Dr. Markham expressed concern because this is the second case of rabies reported in the same vicinity within the past few months.

"Anyone suspecting a tame animal should confine it and keep it under observation," Dr. Markham warned. "Suspected wild animals should be shot and the head brought to the veterinarian clinic in Canyon to be sent to the state laboratory for diagnosis."

Jones Have Infant Son

Rev. and Mrs. Charles Jones announce the February 20 birth of a son at Northwest Texas Hospital in Amarillo.

The infant has been named Charles Christopher and weighed 8 pounds, 9 ounces at birth.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Jones of Hayward, Oklahoma and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Childers of Nampa, Idaho.

all campus revolts, Dr. Pinson said "everybody wants to pass the buck. We're never responsible."

He said if communists in the United States "were as strong as they think they are, we'd have been a satellite of Russia a long time ago."

Dr. Pinson said communists do capitalize on unrest in the country.

He said he was present on the campus of San Francisco State recently during student unrest there.

"They organize to try to keep the thing going," he said.

Cathy Chapman, a panel member, asked Dr. Pinson if student unrest has been present throughout history.

"It's always been around," he said. "Students have always been known for rowdiness. It's not a new phenomenon."

He said campus unrest today concentrates more on social issues, on civil rights.

Quickly, the panelists turned their interest from general campus unrest to events at WTSU specifically.

Most panelists agreed that only a small minority of students at West Texas are concerned with campus issues.

"The students concerned are involved," Tom Cooper said, "but they are few."

Panelist Larry Wilson said "one reason students may be apathetic is that they feel like what they do would not meet with success."

Miss Chapman suggested that students from this area are basically conservative and "have a pretty good life. They haven't been around a lot of other people. Maybe they don't know what to gripe about."

Funeral Held For Mrs. Smith

Mrs. Smith is survived by her husband; one son, George III; and two daughters, Susan and Debbie, all of the home.

The family requests that memorials be made to Boys Ranch or to favorite charities.

Modern Girl Separates®

PANTY GIRDLE AND ATTACHABLE AGILON STRETCH NYLON STOCKING

No hooks, no snaps, no buttons. Girdle in white, 80% Nylon, 20% Spandex. Agilon stretch stocking in Bermuda color. The panty girdle has elastic around bottom that grabs the stocking & holds it in place all day long. They will not sag, stretch, or bag, but will stay in place all day long regardless of whether she is sitting, standing, or bending.

In my opinion they finally have an answer to "at least" a working girls dream. The MODERN GIRL SEPARATES is it. I have pretty well put mine to a test like dancing, bowling, up and down all day at work and doing housework and the band that holds the stocking up doesn't budge. Not having the snaps, hooks or buttons that always pinch is great. I had no doubt about the Agilon Hose, I knew I would like them but I did wonder about the Girdle. Really, it doesn't stretch out of shape after a few washings and the stockings are still there in the evening where I put them that morning.

A Testimonial from a Wearer.
